SERVICE SCENE

General and Admiral
Are Given Farewells

By RUTH DEAN

The Army said goodbye last night to one of its famous generals and the Navy said farewell to its departing Chief of Intelligence and welcomed his successor.

Army Secretary and Mrs. Wilber M. Brucker and Army Chief of Staff and Mrs. Maxwell D. Taylor were joint hosts at a reception for Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, retiring Commander-in-Chief of the United States Army in Europe, and Mrs. McAuliffe.

The party in Patton Hall, followed a dress review parade at Fort Myer at which the Army said farewell to the hero of Bastogne.

At the same time at the Bethesda Naval Medical Center Officers Club, across town, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Carl F. Espe were hosts at a huge reception to introduce Admiral Espe's successor as Chief of Naval Intelligence, Rear Admiral Laurence H. Frost, and Mrs. Frost to the foreign naval attaches stationed here.

There were many old friends who held up the receiving line a few minutes to say goodbye to the general whose famous "Nuts!" reply to a German command to surrender the 101st Airborne Division at Bastogne made World War II history.

To Live in New York

Though the McAuliffes are both native Washingtonians—both attended Eastern High School here—they'll be spending their retirement years in New York where the general will take up his new duties as head of engineering and construction for the American Cyanamid Corporation of New York. They'll live in a Park Avenue apartment, vivacious Helen McAuliffe was saying yesterday. Their daughter, Patricia, will live with them.

They will miss their Washington friends. Mrs. McAuliffe said, but no doubt they'll be down for many visits as the general's 80-year-old mother, Mrs. J. J. McAuliffe, and a sister, Miss Eleanor McAuliffe, live here. Both were at the parade and reception yesterday.

Among those dropping by were former Army Chief of Staff and Mrs. Charles L. Bolte, Maj. Gen. W. B. Creasy, chief of the Army Chemical Corps which Gen. McAuliffe once headed, and Mrs. Creasy, Lt. Gen. and Mrs. James M. Gavin and Gen. and Mrs. W. P. T. Hill.

Stevens There

Receiving a warm welcome were former Secretary of the Army and Mrs. Robert T. Stevens who flew down from their New Jersey home especially for the retirement ceremonies and the dinner given afterwards by Gen. and Mrs. Taylor for the McAuliffes.

Among those greeting the Stevenses were Undersecretary of the Army and Mrs. Charles C. Finucane, Assistant Secretary of Defense and Mrs. Thomas P. Pike, Col. and Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim and Mr. and Mrs. Robert LeBaron.

Senator and Mrs. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania were also there, along with Mrs. Merriweather Post, Mr. John Logan, Mrs. Arthur W. Radford, Assistant Army Secretary and Mrs. George Roderick who were seen talking with Gen. and Mrs. G. B. Erskine, and Maj. Gen. and Mrs. H. R. Westphalinger, and Assistant Secretary of the Army and Mrs. Frank H. Higgins.

In addition to the Bruckers and the Stevenses, the other guests at the Taylor dinner were the Belgian Ambassador and Baroness Silvercruys, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cafritz, the Robert LeBarons, Mrs. Merriweather Post, Mr. Logan, Mrs. A. J. Bowley, the McAuliffe's daughter Patricia, and the new commanding general of the

2nd Army and Mrs. Charles E. Hart

FBI Director Guest

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, put in one of his rare party appearances at the reception given by the Espes for Admiral and Mrs. Frost.

The director of the Central Intelligence Agency and Mrs. Allen Dulles were also there, along with the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Raymond H. Fogler, and Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Albert Pratt. The Deputy director of CIA and Mrs. Charles P. Cabell also dropped by.
